I am opposed to wind energy . It is old technology...copper and and generators. We need to look at research and development into solar where every person can be his/her own utility. We don't need to blast away and fracture forests to put up bases for humongous machines that are only 20 to 25 percent efficient at best. It is a sad state when our technology is relying on old technology to generate energy at the expense of the natural landscape. Promulgating regulations does nothing to prevent the ultrasound effects on humans and animals and the health effects on humans that regular noise these machines emit. Turbine effluent to say the least. Conservation of what we have will save more than these tax supported monstrosities will generate. Elizabeth M Smola Dunnhamtown Rd Brimfield Ma 01010
